DOMINIC BRUNO

Dear Dominic
It has been grand being in your class this year. I think you have a future in dramatics if the Y. Play was a wonderful example of your acting. Best of luck for next year because I think you will be the winner in the oratorial contest for Boy Week and Marion Stafford have been before you. I hope to see a lot of you next year. Lots of luck to a wonderful guy.
Ruth Carlton

Dear Dom

I'll it is very necessary and proper that I sign this book of yours. I was told by Julius Kru that you are a very good politician Do Good Luck to a swell guy and one of my best friends. See you next year.

Dear Yater,
Hi! We've sure had some good times since we first knew each other, haven't we? Probably, I'm your only tennis fulfiend who still doesn't know how to serve. Don't feel bad, though, Laura its natural ineptitude on my part, not yours. You know, Greek class would get draggy and boring if it weren't for the speeches which you manage to come up with, every now and then. Brother or as Miss Burrell says "Neeman. Anyhoo, Good Luck, and see you this summer I hope.

Bye
Ramona Stringer
TT #131

Dear Dominic,
Some of us really did struggle thru 216 didn't we?. Of course you were really the brain of the class. But in study hall you were a regular little pest. You might get fat eating all those chips. Hope I see you a lot next year and that I get to know you lots better, 'cause I think you're one swell guy. Believe me.

Loads of Luck
Barbara Peters

P.S. Ronnie said I shouldn't put "Love & Stuff" at the end or else he would get jealous so I'll have it out just this once. Okay?

RESERVED FOR V. E

Dear Dom,
I'm sorry I wrote in the wrong place. Love, V.E.

P.S. For the sentimental stuff turn to page 8 in the back.

Dear Dom, June 9, 1950

This has certainly been a busy year at Libbey, hasn't it? To do a good job of writing this, I guess I should start with last summer.

Remember all the times that Fred and Janice, and you and Mona, and Jane and Ronnie, and sometimes Joyce and Larry and I used to get together and have good times? The time we went to Bowling Green and also the night we went swimming at Scott? I doubt if things will ever be the same as they were then, since everyone seems to be splitting up. But it was really fun, I thought.

Then school started, and we found out that all of us were in Speech Class together. Joyce and you and Mona and I. That class was a riot. Remember the Prince of Peace Contest? (How could you forget?). You were right in there until the last, and I think that if Speeches were judged on forcefulness, you would've won. Joyce made a pretty good showing, too.

Then there was the Phil Dance. I had a good time, even though Ronnie was with us. And some of those dances after basketball games were fun, too.

I always got a kick out of you in History Class. I don't think Roscoe appreciated your vague attempts at philosophy. We all knew you had your lesson, but the question is - did he?

Then in Geometry - you were about the only one who didn't ask me for my paper every day. Of course not that you needed it, because I still don't think I ever understood what we were doing in there, but - still, you were nice about it.

We didn't seem to see much of each other, outside of classes, that is, until toward the end of the year.

I guess you don't realize how much you appreciate a person until you don't see him for awhile. (I'm finding that out right now.)

I would really like to learn how to play a halfway decent game of tennis. But I guess it kind of tries the patience of someone who knows how. Anyway, I'd appreciate it if you'd give me another try.

I'll fill up these two pages if it kills me.

I'll never forget some of those speeches you gave this year. Especially the one about -- "the natives of Hawaii have died from disease and inter-marriage." Wild Bill got a kick out of yours I think, and most of the class looked forward to your speeches.

Oh- I almost forgot the Junior Play.

Maybe you won't believe this, but you were the most true-to-character actor in it. That sinister way you had about you - and that laugh. — It haunts me yet. As Proctor, you were perfect.

I want to say 'thanks' for everything you've asked me to, or taken me home from, this year. I had a swell time at the Forum Dance --(even though I didn't get in until almost three.)

We've seen quite a bit of each other toward the end of this year - and I can truthfully say that I've enjoyed every minute I've been with you -- that is, when we've both been in an agreeable mood.

I consider myself pretty lucky to know, as well as I do, such a popular, talented, wonderful boy as you. And I hope our good times together won't stop with the end of the school year.

Lots of love,
Vera

of Libbey High School of the Senior Class of 1950

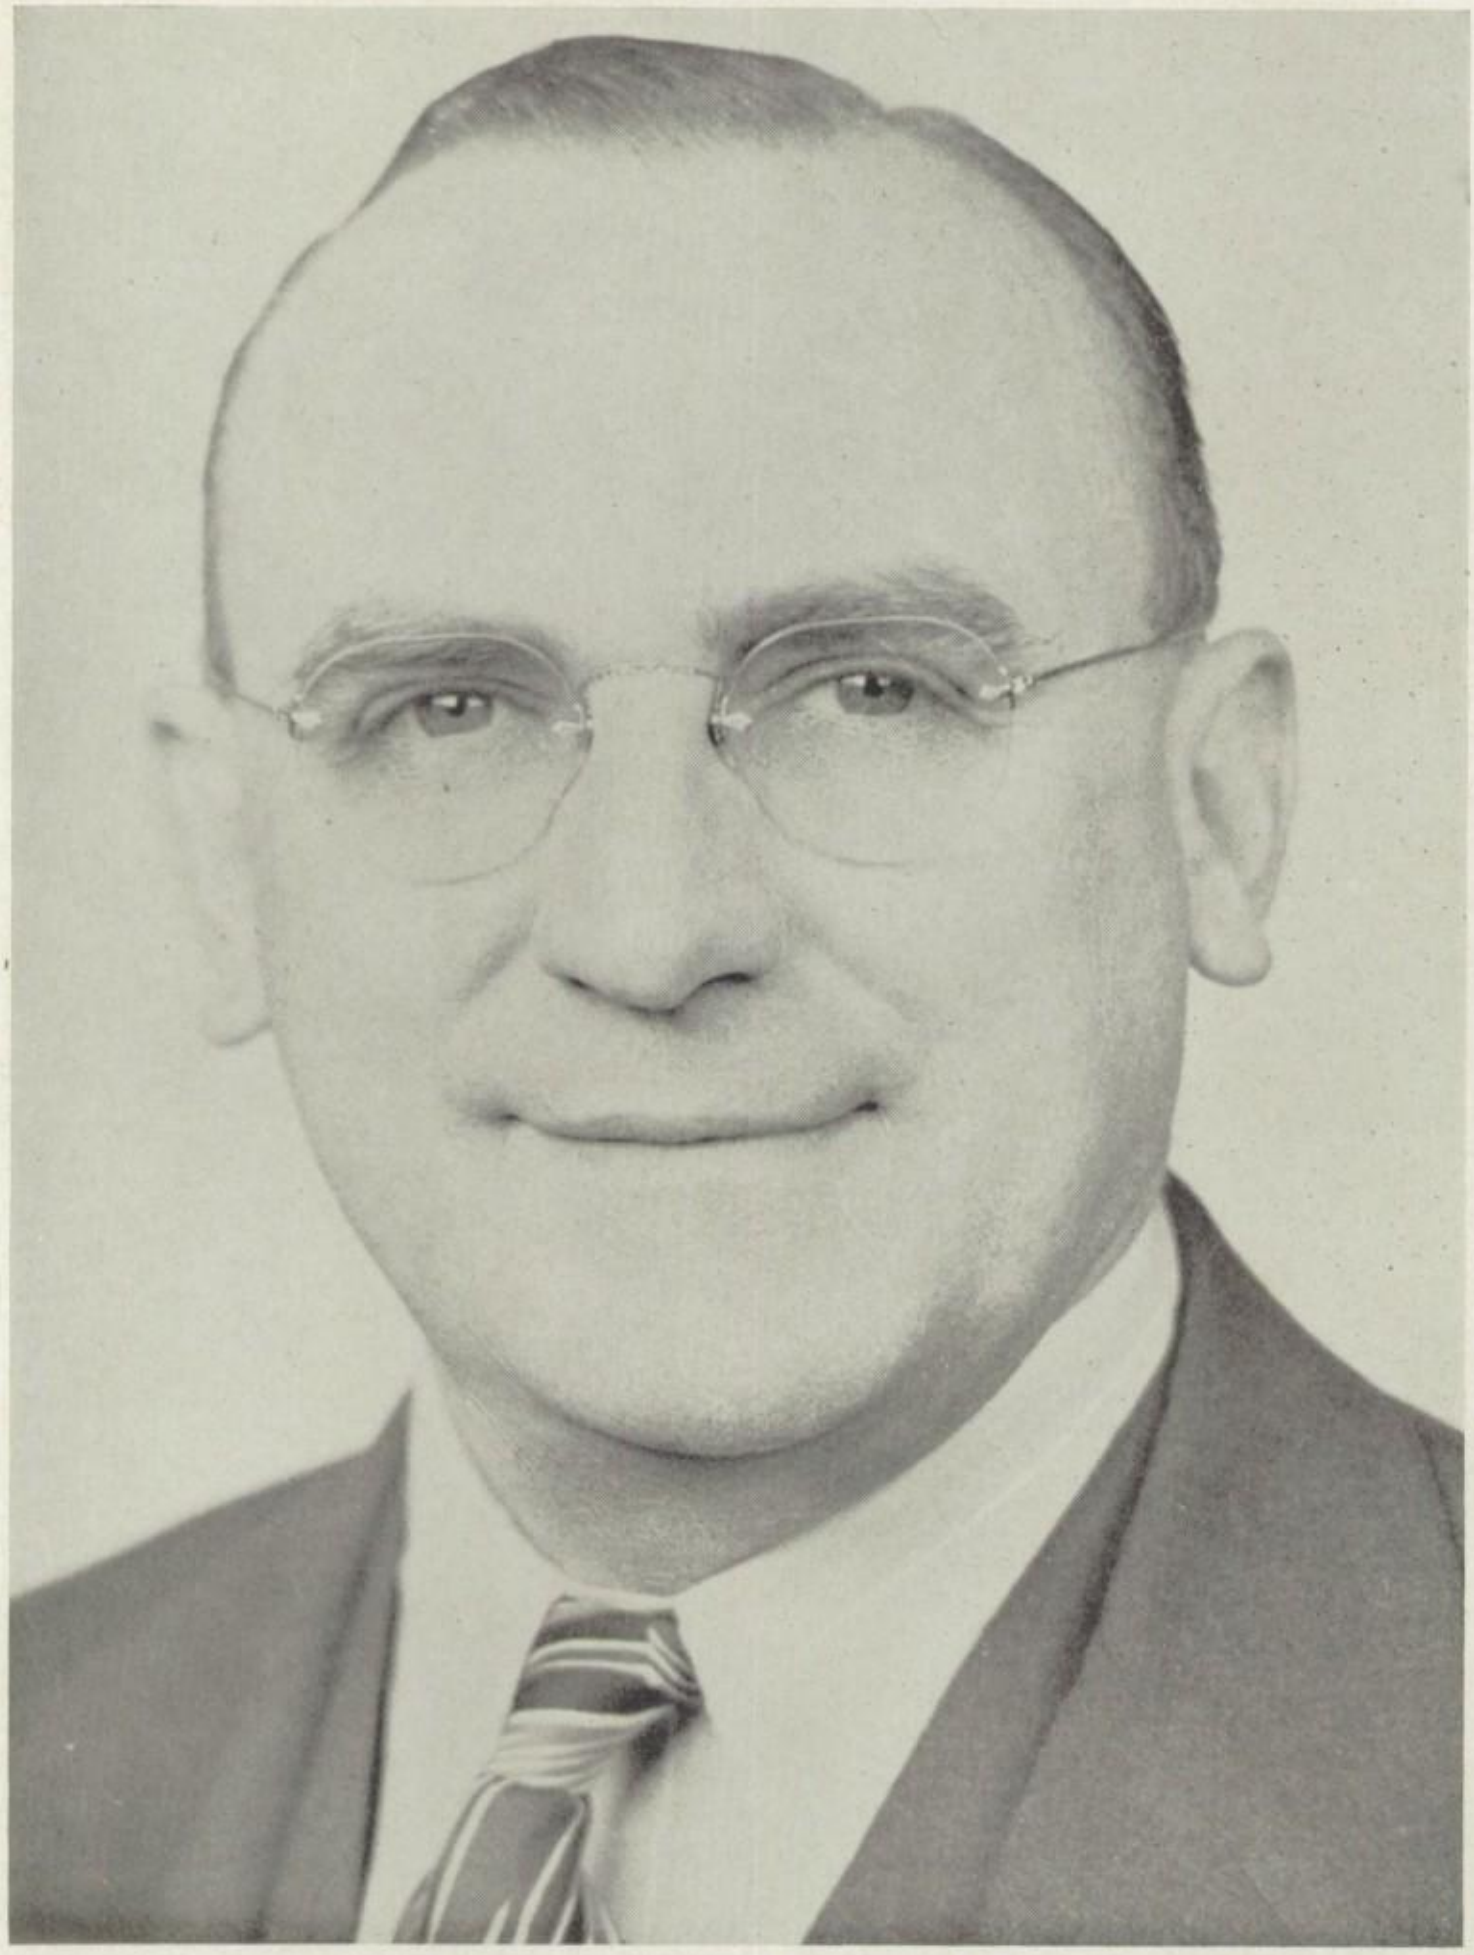
Superintendent E. L. Bowsher

The Toledo public schools have been especially honored this past year because of the fact that Superintendent E. L. Bowsher has been our representative among a group of school administrators from all over the United Sates to study social, economic and educational trends within European countries. The Seniors of Nineteen-Fifty congratulate him because of the breadth of his experiences and his progressive philosophy of education and wish him every success.



Principal Loy W. Rusie

During the past four years the Senior Class of Libbey High School has been under the guidance and direction of Principal Loy W. Rusie. During that period they have been constantly aware of his kindly interest and sympathetic understanding. As they graduate, they wish him good luck and Godspeed in the years ahead, pledging that they will truthfully adhere to the principles he has taught them, and uphold the high standards of Libbey.

DEDIC

A school always has a grand feeling of pride when one of its graduates returns to become a member of the faculty. Genial, friendly Al Jeffery joined the Athletic Department of Libbey, having taught for a few years previously at East High School in Youngstown, Ohio.

A native of Toledo, he was educated in the elementary and high schools here and later obtained the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education at Ohio University in Athens. He is very happily married and is the father of two daughters and a son. His interests in the community are attested to by his sincere interest in his work as athletic instructor at Libbey and his affiliation with the Monroe Street Methodist Church.

To know Mr. Jeffery is to like him and since practically every student knows him, his popularity rating is easy to estimate. In his official capacity as basketball coach, baseball coach, and assistant football coach, he has shown himself so sincere, energetic, and loyal that he is always a fine example of good sportsmanship and manliness to everyone. Therefore, the Senior Class of Nineteen Fifty is proud to give a hearty salute and the dedication of this Edelian to an excellent instructor and a wonderful pal — Jeff!

EDELIAN

With the start of school, Libbey's industrious and well coordinated Edelian staff began striving to produce the best Edelian possible. Soliciting advertisements was the first task. More than enough ads were obtained. With the selection of a suitable cover the contents of the book were decided. Snap! Flash!—a sound often repeated during the following weeks produced the pictures of classes, clubs, sports and activities. Then everything seemed to be printer-bound. Finally with the direction and supervision of Miss Dusha, a superb year book was produced. The business department was directed by Mr. Martin and, acting as counsellor-in-chief, was Principal Loy Rusie.

The editorial staff was made up of Charles Bancroft, editor-in-chief, and Tom Fleming, associate editor. Heading the other departments were seniors, Laura Hoffman and Barbara Bunge; classes, Joan Erd and June Foltz; clubs, Alice Reynolds and Nancy Rampendahl; sports, Dick Roper and Ozora Miller; snapshots, Patsy Sanzenbacher and Mardelle Sawyer; typing, Barbara Zollers and Barbara Trumbull; faculty, Jennie Rothschild and Gerrie Schiehsl; advertisement-finance, Catherine Rotondo and Marjorie Rynn; and advertisement layout, Ann Bartos and Sharon Kabel. Lois Klosterhaus was business manager, assisted by Shirley Ward; and Shirley Krall, with the help of Helyn Rigney, handled the advertising for Mr. Martin's department.

CRYSTAL

Have you been out in the hall during second hour recently? If you have, you have probably encountered busy reporters from the Crystal staff, who have been working industriously throughout the year gathering news, editing, and distributing our high-ranking school paper.

Co-editors-in-chief, Elliot Teitlebaum and Beverly Jay, under the advisorship of Miss Gerdes, have produced the splendid issues of the Crystal we have enjoyed so much. The assistant editors were Gerrie Studer and Betty Reetz. The Crystal's one social event was a banquet, given in the spring by the journalism class members in honor of the seniors. The co-chairmen for the banquet were Bonnie Willey and Nancy Corbin. Keep up the good work, Crystal staff! The whole school appreciates your fine work.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

What greater achievement can any student claim than that of having been chosen a member of the National Honor Society? The keystone and the flaming torch are the distinguishing features of the society's emblem which members are privileged to wear. The keystone represents the stable foundation upon which our education must be erected. The flaming torch is the emblem of the society's purpose—ever to hold erect the flaming light of truth, to lead that others may follow in the light, to keep burning in our school a high ambition, to approach the highest ideals of life, and to serve loyally, faithfully, and unselfishly. The efficient leaders of this club were Robert Thorpe, president; Joyce Boehk, vice-president; Janet Weber, secretary-treasurer; and Elliot Tietlebaum, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Lynn is the adviser of the group.

Each year National Honor plans some activity, given during school time, in order to earn money to be used in a scholarship fund. This year, this society sponsored a quiz show on March 28. Elliot Teitlebaum is credited with the success which the show had as he served as chairman of this event. Many of the members also took part in the various scholarship tests offered. They also served the school by conducting junior and senior class officer elections and the Student Council election.

To generate a will-to-serve! Yes, this is the purpose of the Quill and Dagger Literary Society. Every member of the club proved very helpful in carrying out the year's program of achievements and activities. Much credit for their leadership should be given to the officers: William Good, president; Russell Edwards, vice-president; Orris Taberner, secretary-treasurer; and Glen Mugler, sergeant-at-arms. The work of Mr. Robinson, as adviser, was greatly appreciated by all the boys.

As always this active group of boys had a very busy year. The first event of the season was the occasion which all lads eagerly look forward to, otherwise known as receiving a bid to the Q. D.'s, and then, later, initiation. Robert Patterson headed this committee. A few days before the big turkey-day game, many of the members could be seen in the halls selling "Beat DeVilbiss" tags. With football games going out of season and basketball games coming in, the Q. D.'s held an informal dance in the gym after the Waite basketball game. With dancing still in their minds, and spring coming, they held the traditional "Q. D. Shindig" on February 17. The colorful posters in the halls and the place, Trianon Ballroom, made this dance one of the outstanding affairs of the year. Russ Edwards and David Hull did a fine job as co-chairmen of this committee assisted by Jerry Pistilli, Jim Nye, Don Kaczala, and Orris Taberner. The social calendar of the year ended with the annual banquet in May, honoring the graduating seniors.

Talk about progress—the Forum Literary Society has certainly achieved it this year. Social events stared with a whirl. A rough initiation of the pledges was held in the fall. Chuck Elliot served as chairman of the committee, with John Ball, Paul Baldwin, and Jerry Anderson assisting him. The coming of spring meant the coming of their annual dance held at the Woman's Building on May 19. An outstanding band and beautiful decorations—the result of hard work—made their dance one of the events of the year to remember. Russ Booth, chairman, did a fine job planning the affair assisted by Dennis Coulson, Dick Cheney, Herman Johnson, Chuck Elliot, Benny Booth, and Larry Metzger.

Later in the spring, many gals and guys attended the Forum hayride and roast. No one can deny that they had a good time. This was to be expected with Ken Crossman as chairman and his committee, Dick Emerson, Dick Strahm, Jim Neal, and Jerry Anderson, working hard to make it a success. After that the customary banquet was held honoring the graduating seniors and the capable advisers, Mr. L. L. Vander and Mr. E. W. Harris. The leaders of the Forum fashioned their responsibilities after the purpose of the organization: to promote a feeling of cooperation and unity among the members. Directing the club this year were Jim Findley, president; Russ Booth, vice-president; Robert Thorpe, secretary; Roy Evans, treasurer; and John Ball, sergeant-at-arms.

PERICLEAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Peries, to be excelled by none, opened their activities by presenting a mass meeting for the homecoming game, with Hamilton, on November 4. The theme of the pep rally was a typical day in the life of our hero, Libbey Louie. During the meeting, the team was presented a huge horseshoe of chrysanthemums. Jennie Rothschild headed the dance committee which gave the "Frozen Fantasy" at Calumet Temple in January. March was the scene of the Peri initiation tea, ably planned by Marianna Schneider, at which time the pledges were presented the colors of the club in the form of corsages. In April, the Peries entertained Phils and Zets with a splash party at the Catholic Club. The girls also honored their mothers with an annual tea. At the end of the year, the senior members received Peri lockets at their banquet.

This year, for a literary program, members attended Town Hall meetings. They were a series of lectures given by prominent columnists, actors, authors, and commentators. Under the capable direction of the adviser, Miss Dusha, and the officers, Barbara Brown, president; Jennie Rothschild, vice-president; Sue Hockett, treasurer; Barbara Bunge, censor; Carroll Moog, recording secretary; Joyce McClaran, corresponding secretary; and Beverly Kramp, chaplain, the group enjoyed a prosperous year.

PHILALETHEAN LITERARY SOCIETY

They came! They saw! They conquered! The mighty Phil brigade marched on to another victorious and yielding year. The Libbey-Waite football rivalry was climaxed when the peppy Phils staged a rip-roaring Cowboy vs. Indian mass meeting with "Injun" Studer and "Two Gun" Hartwig, co-chairmen. Working energetically on the Tri-Lit Roast Committee were Joyce Carlton and Janice Fosbender. Janet Weber was in charge of selling pencils with the season's basketball schedules printed on them.

The Royal Phil Family presented the "Imperial Prom" on December 2, in the Libbey Palace Ballroom, with Sir Paul Mabie and his men furnishing dreamy music. Much credit was given June Foltz, dance chairman, and her committee. A St. Patrick's Day tea honored mothers and teachers. On this occasion Senior members joyously received their gifts from younger Phil sisters. The annual Spring Banquet was planned by Barbara Tripp and Pat Harding. Capably leading the Phils were Nancy Hirshy, president; June Foltz, vice-president; Pat Sanzenbacher, recording secretary; Nancy Hartwig, corresponding secretary; Bea Birkenkamp, treasurer; Judy Kohring, senior censor; and Pat Harding, junior censor. To the wonderful advisers, Miss Gerdes, Miss Kirk, and Miss Allen, we say, "Congrats and Orchids."

With their motto in mind, "Nihil sine labore," (Nothing without labor) the Zets come to the end of another eventful year, which included the annual mass meeting in November, with Mary Phalen and Catherine Rotondo serving as co-chairmen. In October the Zets participated in the Tri-Lit Roast which took place at Fort Meigs with Pat Robinson and Eleanora Collins serving on the committee with members of the other literary societies at Libbey. "The Rhapsody in Blue" took place on March 17, at the Woman's Building. Beverly Jay was chairman of this gala affair. Members of the dance committee were Sue Hoffman, Virginia Morris, Marge Probert, Harriet Covode, Pat Robinson, Barbara Soule, Barbara Taylor, and Janet Whitehead. May 3 was both a happy and a sad day for pledges as it was the day of a rough initiation. The Zet Mother-Daughter Tea was a very colorful affair, held on April 19, under the co-chairmanship of Gerry Schiehsl and Ruth Ott.

To promote interest of members and to teach good fellowship, consideration of others, value of cooperation, and commendable school spirit has been the purpose of the Zets since its establishment. Accordingly the program of the year was based upon the theme: "Personality Improvement." The Zets again sold name cards. The cabinet included Donna Jaeck, president; Beverly Jay, vice-president; Alice Reynolds, recording secretary; Betty Reetz, corresponding secretary; Kathryn Mentzer, treasurer; Eleanora Collins, chaplain; Eleanor Peters, censor; and Harriet Covode, historian. Advisers were Miss DeLisle, Miss Henderson, Miss Murbach, and Miss Eberth.

Two of the more helpful groups at Libbey are the Red Cross and the Deans' Aides. The purpose of the Red Cross is to give service locally, nationally, and internationally. The Junior Red Cross has done unlimited things to help needy people. They made eighteen hundred kits for the yearly Red Cross Fund Campaign. This group also sent used magazines for local hospitals, prepared thousands of tray favors for local hospital trays on St. Patrick's Day and Easter, sent C.A.R.E. food packages and clothing boxes to all the countries of the world, and packed fifty gift boxes for the needy children of war-torn Europe. In a word, they lived up to their motto, "We Serve." The officers of this fine organization were Connie Porter, president; Barbara Kerschner, vice-president; and Steven Jadlocki, secretary-treasurer. Miss May was the helpful adviser.

Again this year, the Deans' aides and office workers have proved to us that their services are vital in the maintainance of school standards. Their duties consist of filing excuses, collecting attendance, checking on absences, sending penalty notices, and making sure everything is efficiently handled. Without the aid of these industrious helpers, the deans, Miss Gertrude Kanney and Mr. John Osgood, as well as the main office, would find their work undone on many occasions. In the spring, the deans planned the annual picnic to reward the girls for their fine services.

SENIOR Y-TEENS

The active, vivacious Senior Y-Teens have recorded a year of unsurpassed club activities. Ushering in the school year was the clever Barberton mass meeting, taking as its theme a wrestling match worked out by co-chairmen, Nancy Rampendahl and Joyce Carlton. For November 16, service chairman, Alice Reynolds planned a banquet to honor our football champions and their parents. Gerrie Studer and Judy Kohring were chairmen of the Mothers' Christmas Tea. Two new social activities were accomplished: an all Y-Teen Tea honoring the Freshman members and the greatest triumph — a square dance, "The Barefoot Bounce."

Seven Lenten programs were planned and Christmas gifts were sent to a girl at the Girls' School in Buffalo, New York. For charity, at home, a valentine's party was given for the old folks; and a paralyzed fifteen-year-old boy received weekly gifts of toys. The club had for its speakers: Miss Duxberry, exchange teacher from England; Miss Davis, Y-Teen director from the YWCA; Mrs. Everett, who spoke on modeling; and Mrs. Bissell, on business etiquette. Much credit is due the adviser, Miss Ruth Allen, for her patience and understanding and also for the capable leadership of Laura Hoffman, president; Betty Head, vice-president; Jo Ducat, recording secretary; Rose Marie Goodwin, corresponding secretary; Marcia Hill, treasurer; and Sharon Kabel, chaplain.

JUNIOR Y-TEENS

Taking as its purpose to grow as a person, to grow in friendship with people of all races, religions and nationalities, and to grow in the knowledge and love of God, the Junior Y-Teens have truly lived up to their creed. On December 8, the club had a recogniton service in the library. Co-chairmen of the event were Vera Engelhardt and Dorothy Lee. At Christmastime the members sent gifts to an underprivileged girl in Buffalo, New York.

The club rendered several worthwhile services to the school. In February, it sponsored Mrs. Amos Conn in a book review entitled "A Man and His Dream" by George Stephens. Then on February 23, the club participated in the all Y-Teen Tea, honoring the Freshmen. In charge of this affair for the juniors were Treva Critzer and Nannette Striggow. Much credit goes to the new adviser, Miss Russell and the capable leaders: Harriet Covode, president; Dorothy Lee, vice-president; Nancy Hipp, corresponding secretary; Joan Hundley, recording secretary; Ramona Leininger, treasurer; and Ruth Weber, chaplain.

Taking service as their purpose, the Sophomore Y-Teens have had several activities this year to illustrate their objective. In November, an installation service, under the direction of Margaret Endsley, was held. At Christmastime, the girls sent gifts to an underprivileged girl in Buffalo, New York. On February 23, the club participated in the all Y-Teens Tea under the chairmanship of Pat Featheringill and Kay Hoffman, representing the Sophomore club.

For their program this year, the club enjoyed Mrs. Nelly Stone, who discussed preparation for marriage. On April 6, the club gave a party for the children at Lucas County Children's Home. Advisers for the year were Mrs. Black and Miss Kirk, and the officers included Suzanne Smilax, president; Margaret Endsley, vice-president; Mary Delaplane, recording secretary; Janet Whitehead, corresponding secretary; Connie McCarthy, treasurer; and Marcia Beier, chaplain.

One of the newest clubs at Libbey is the Freshmen Y-Teens Club. Serving its purpose by helping the members to grow in friendship with persons of different races and religions, the club organized at the end of the first semester. They were honored at a tea given for them by the other three Y-Teen Clubs. Because of the late organization, the club was not able to plan any social events nor have any speakers. They did, however, sponsor a very successful fudge sale in March.

Much credit must be given to the adviser, Mrs. Carl Rampendahl, who while not a teacher or directly connected with the school, has given the club much of her time and interest. Appreciation is also extended to the leaders: June Shepler, president; Roberta Jefferds, vice-president; Kaye Bache, secretary; Patricia Mallory, treasurer; and Carol Hischka, chaplain.

SENIOR AND JUNIOR HI-Y

The Senior and Junior Hi-Y clubs under the respective direction of Mr. John Vanderwulp and Mr. James Becker had many educational and social events. The capable officers of the Senior Hi-Y were Richard Roper, president; Russell Edwards, vice-president; Tom Fleming, treasurer; Bob Creamean, secretary; Elliot Teitlebaum, chaplain; and Glen Graves, sergeant-at-arms. Leading the Junior club were Bradley Orbeson, president; Dave Adkins, vice-president; Bob Leydorf, secretary; Bob Hipp, treasurer; Jim Kreutzfeld, chaplain; and Reed Paeth, sergeant-at-arms.

The year was opened with a roast at Side-Cut Park. The Senior Hi-Y participated in a basketball tourney at the Y.M.C.A. during Christmas vacation and emerged city champions. Mr. Nilkanth Chavre, who was sent to the United States by the Indian government, spoke to the school in February. His subject, "Russia's Design on the East," proved to be very interesting. The Senior Hi-Y also sponsored the Lenten services with the Senior Y-Teens. A Mother's and Son's banquet was held in May and was made very successful through the efforts of Bob Cremean and his committee.

SOPHOMORE HI-Y — PROJECTION CLUB

Co-operating with the Junior and Senior clubs, the Sophomore Hi-Y exemplified the purpose of the club, "To create, maintain, and extend, throughout the school and the community, high standards of living." The club started the year with a successful splash party in November at the Y.M.C.A., and participated in a basketball tournament in December. A dance was held in the spring for the members of the club. Many thanks are due the club's capable adviser, Mr. John Vanderwulp. The officers of the year were Richard Beard, president; Glen Shirk, vice-president; Gerald Hawley, secretary; Vern Eden, treasurer; and Raymond Shunck, chaplain.

The Projection Club exists to promote visual education among the students of Libbey. Advising the scheduling of movies and instructing the staff during the year was the faithful director, Mr. Lincke. The officers included Mildred Waite, president; Delores Kennelly, vice-president; Gerrie Deal, secretary; Gladys Jeakle, treasurer; and Martin Fritz, sergeant-at-arms.

"Preparing for the future" could very well be the motto of the Debate Club and the Future Teachers of America as both public speaking and education are the most important purposes of these two active groups. The debate club discussed the question of the need of sororities and fraternities, the Chinese situation, and the recent coal strike. A spring roast was held at Pearson Park. Mr. Baker served as adviser of the club and the officers were Elliott Tietlebaum, president; Edward Lillich, vice-president-treasurer; and Wilma Jaffke, secretary.

Fulfilling their purpose of developing a better understanding of the teaching field, the Future Teachers of America experienced an active year. Highlighting the financial projects was the selling of plastic textbook covers, the receipts of which will provide a scholarship to be given to the outstanding senior member. At Christmas, members helped to lend color to Libbey's halls by painting beautiful scenes on the windows. The club sent an orphan gifts at all the holidays. The program of study included a visit to the Child Study Institute and a review of parliamentary procedure. Many of the girls aided the teachers at various tasks. A tea, in March, honored the teachers, and the banquet and installation of new officers was held in May. The capable officers were Nancy Rampendahl, president; Judy Kohring, vice-president; Betty Reetz, secretary; Marianna Schnieder, treasurer; Dorothy Sankiewicz, historian; Nancy Hartwig, librarian; and Ozora Miller, parliamentarian. The club's advisers were Mr. Rusie, our principal, Miss Ruth Dusha, and Miss Irene Foster.

The purpose of Le Cercle Francais is to promote a better understanding of the French people by studying their language and their culture. Their adviser, Miss Bernice Kreuger, gave much assistance in carrying out this purpose. Included in the cabinet were, Gerrie Studer, president; Luther Howard, vice-president; Jane Smilax, secretary; Janice Fosbender, treasurer; Shirley Ward, reporter; and Marilyn Rerucha, Arthur Lee, Jo Ann McKinney, and Joan Norris, censors. The social events of the club were a tea at Mary Manse College; a Christmas party, and an initiation party. A spring banquet ended the social activities of the club. A few of the club projects were the study of French history and culture, through reports, and the sending of C.A.R.E. boxes to Europe.

Curtain time! Places everyone! Remember your cue! Yes, the Dramatics Club has completed an eventful year. In promoting the drama in its various phases, and in encouraging reading and witnessing of better plays, the program of work for the year was begun. The club's repertoire included three one-act plays: "Wilber Faces Life," "Suitable for Charity," and "Boomerang"; a Christmas play, "An Empty Room"; the annual Senior class play, "Seven Sisters"; and the Junior play, "Dangerous Nan McGrew." On the social calendar, a Christmas party, headed by Marvin Stafford, was enjoyed by all the members. The annual spring banquet, arranged by Nancy Hartwig and her committee, marked the finish to a season of unusual accomplishments. Responsible for much of the year's success was Miss Costigan, and the officers, Patty Robinson, president; Larry Metzger, vice-president; Shirley Krall, recording secretary; Barbara Reeck, corresponding secretary; and Maradell Karchner, treasurer.

CLASSICAL HONOR — JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE

To interest students in the classics and to further their appreciation in this field is the purpose of the Classical Honor Society. Under the leadership of Mrs. Pauline Burton, adviser; Jon Helms, president; Lamar Sawyer, vice-president; and Hedy Leu, secretary-treasurer, the club has done much to see that its purpose was put into action. This society, a chapter of the National Junior Classical League of America, celebrated Latin Week, by making posters. The social calendar included two picnics, a Christmas party, and an Induction Banquet. They also made educational contacts to interest students in the classics. In May this club had a museum trip and an educational trip to the University of Michigan.

"Scientia Arx Saeculorum"—knowledge, the citadel of the ages, is the motto of the Junior Classical League of America. This club allows the student, who works hard but does not maintain an A or B average, to get in the activities participated by those in the Classical Honor Society. Mrs. Pauline Burton is its adviser with Jon Helms, Lamar Sawyer, and Hedy Leu as its council; Esther Prueter, records; June Foltz and Duane Mehlman, public relations; Betty Head, social welfare; Phillip Fry, programs; Jack Gamble, properties; and Jim Kruetzfeld, organization.

ACTIVITIES DEPARTMENT — STUDENT COUNCIL

Two groups very essential to the student body of Libbey High School are the Activities Department and the Student Council. The Activities Department is one of the most active organizations in Libbey High School. With Mr. Martin as its adviser, it takes care of the distribution of tickets, and of all the activities that constitute the financial backing of the school. This department does its own mimeographing, and keeps a record of sales during the entire year. In the last two years, it has encouraged the "Rhythm Roundup" to a booming success. The officers of the department were Pat Robinson and Sue Hockett, activities managers, assisted by Shirley Krall, Lois Klosterhaus, and Shirley Ward; Helen Rigney and Shirley Krall, Edelian advertising managers; and Lois Klosterhaus and Shirley Ward, circulation managers.

Through the Student Council the students find democratic representation. The recommendation of policies on school procedures to the administration, printing of basketball schedules and rules, collection of canned goods for needy families at Christmas time, and promotion of good sportsmanship among students were major activities of the year. Social activities consisted of a dance in the school gym, and a spring roast. Heading the council were Jim Findley, president; June Foltz, vice-president; and Donna Jaeck, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Rusie and Mr. Lynn are the genial advisers.

The future of American business depends upon the youth of today. With this thought in mind, the Commercial Club has developed into one of the largest and most active organizations at Libbey. During the year the club sold potato chips, candy, and stationery. In this way the members not only got experience in salesmanship, but also acquired enough money to provide for their many social events. To start the year off right, an excellent talk was given by Mr. Burlew on "Business Attitude." Late in October the club held a Halloween party at the Highland Park Shelterhouse. Next came the Thanksgiving party planned by Helen Rigney. Santa Claus (Mr. Kiefer) came to the Christmas party and provided fun and laughs for everyone. A grand time was had by all who attended the annual skating party at the Rollercade. February 8 was the day of the wonderful Mother and Daughter tea, handled by Janet Frey. The mothers were honored with corsages and the program consisted of beautiful color slides supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Packer. A formal banquet was held in April, climaxed by a play given by the seniors.

Mrs. Flatz, Miss Cooper, and Mrs. Houser should be given a great deal of credit for their untiring services to the club. The officers of the club were Lois Klosterhaus, president; Joyce Franklin, secretary; Gerry Schiehsl, treasurer, and Jean Shepler, reporter.

Oh, for the love of nature! The Biology Club, whose purpose is to study the various fields of biology and to add interest to the subject, began their activities by taking a field trip through the science departments of the University of Toledo. Both members and advisers found the trip to be a very interesting expedition. The Biology Club Roast, with Elenora Collins acting as chairman, was held at Ottawa Park later in the year. This roast was the sole social event of the Biology Club.

The program of the club was to study various fields of nature, such as insects, flowers, and plants, and make and give reports on them. The members also read books about nature, to widen their scope of scientific knowledge. The meetings were always very interesting, and very educational. The club's competent advisers, who guided its members into the field of science and nature, were Miss Fiedler and Miss Pickard. Its officers were, president, Jack Waldron; vice-president, Joan Hundley; secretary, Eugenia Corey; and treasurer, Eddie Lillich. The advisers, officers, and members found this year to be very progressive and interesting.

CHOIR

"Music, music, music," is what you'll hear fourth hour in room 103 M. B. The purpose of the choir is to enable the students to read music well and to increase appreciation of music. In order that a student may gain a full credit in this course, he must take music appreciation; that is, the study of music and its composers. The choir is under the direction of Harold McClure who has studied music at Indiana State Teachers' College. The choir is more than a music class; it is a friendly organization which has elected the following capable officers; Luther Howard, president; Eleanora Collins, vice-president; Norma Jernigan, secretary; Bea Birkenkamp, treasurer; and Jerry Pistill, sergeant-at-arms.

The choir has given a number of programs. In February, the choir sang for the Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity. The Commodore Perry Hotel was the next place at which the choir entertained the Educational Women's Club. The annual city-wide Choir Festival at the Art Museum Peristyle was the most interesting, for the choir competed with the other high school choirs. On April 18, the choir sang for the Exchange Club, and during Lent, this group entertained St. Paul's Lutheran Church with their music. These were the main services which our choir contributed to the people of Toledo. The real joy of singing comes to our choir when it sings in our own Libbey auditorium. Here it has a chance to show its own school what it can do. At the annual Lenten services, the choir rendered many beautiful religious numbers. The group ended a most eventful year by singing at graduation.

"Notes to you," the motto of the band, very effectively describes the work of this organization. A football game would never be complete without the band's performing during the half-time. Many grade schools and junior high schools would be disappointed if our band failed to give its annual concert at their school during the school year. While the band is entertaining other people, it is also increasing the members' musical ability. Some of the group's other activities this year included their annual dance, "The Barnyard Ball," with Harold Melle as chairman, and the various activities the "Band Boosters" helped to promote. "The Libbey Band Boosters" helped to earn money for this worthwhile organization by sponsoring a carnival, a card party, and a feather party, from which they raised enough money to buy two new majorette outfits and new hats for all the members of the band.

Many hours of hard work have made the band appreciate the guidance and direction that their adviser, Mr. Harold McClure, has given them. The officers, Harriet Swaby, president; Charles Carr, vice-president; Helen Rigney, secretary; Ronald Chambers, treasurer; Lee Frayer, student director; and Harold Melle, ways and means chairman, have very capably led the band this year. The drum major, Harold Melle, and the steppy majorettes—JoAnn Francis, Helen Rigney, Peggy Soloman, Fay Szeve, Sandra Brown, Sue McLaughlin, Viola Shoemaker, and Rae Myers—added the necessary color to the band.

Creating an interest in the study of architecture and engineering is the purpose that these craft clubs have at Libbey. With the motto, "Drafting is the Language of Industry," in mind, the architects included in their program for the year many things which help to further their purpose and motto. This program included trips to buildings under construction and also to the building supply companies. A Christmas card sales campaign and small house plan competition completed their activities. Their social events included the annual banquet and initiation party for the members. The cabinet consisted of Roger Tapley, president; Douglas McCluggage, vice-president; Dwight Gartz, secretary; Donald Friend, treasurer; and Carl Felser, sergeant-at-arms. Their adviser is Edward Packer.

To better acquaint young men with the importance of engineering is of vital interest to all drafting students. Each year, the Engineering Society does this job. Their program expects each member to give a talk on the progress and development in the field of engineering, and other subjects of interest to future engineers. This year the society toured many industrial plants and visited places of interest. The engineers had as officers Fred Shank, president; Bob Hipp, vice-president; Richard Ciesla, secretary; Gary Parker, treasurer; and Jerry Bradley, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Sterling is the adviser.

With sportsmanship and fun as their main incentive, the Girls' Athletic Association again this year displayed the skill and vigor which made it possible to give the boys a run for their money. By participating in various sports, the girls have an opportunity to enjoy many games and to become interested in some sport so that they might make it their hobby after leaving school. Starting early in the fall, the members showed their talent in tennis, badminton, archery, and table tennis. When the winter weather arrived, basketballs and volleyballs replaced bows and arrows. In March, several tournaments were played, an event which encouraged keen competition among the teams. Tennis and softball composed the spring program.

Along with their other activities, this group also enjoyed a spring roast at Walbridge Park, to which the members responded very readily. The active members of the G.A.A. were efficiently guided by Zenobia Rose, president; Joann Francis, vice-president; Vera Hoffman, secretary; and Lillian Lewis, treasurer. Miss Maher and Miss Meyers are the advisers of the club.

HOME ECONOMICS — LIB

Art is the basis of both the Home Economics Club and the Lib: one, homemaking; the other, drawing. The Home Economics Club believes in keeping in step with the times. Their theme for the past year was "Family." This Libbey club also sent C.A.R.E. boxes to Europe, and packed a fruit basket for the Old Folks' Home. They also sponsored social events to make the club year complete. A Halloween Party and a Christmas Party were the most important of these activities. A Spring tea and last, their annual banquet, concluded the club's program. Their advisers, Miss Murbach, Miss Owens, Miss Wylie, and Mrs. Miller, helped to form an active and complete club. The officers were president, Marian Mucci; vice-president, Betty Garwood; secretary, Pat Gawronski; treasurer, Pat Harding; and reporter, Phyliss Strahley.

Pictures, cartoons, news, and fashions—these are a few of the many articles which are found in the Lib. Edited and put out by the members of the Lib staff, this magazine provides enjoyment for the students and an opportunity for the art students to have the satisfaction of seeing their efforts in print. Much credit goes to Miss Hazel Bartley who supervised the work of the art students, and to the editors, Bud Kline, Arthur Kaplan, and Dorothy Sankiewiez. Their social event of the year was a banquet held in May.

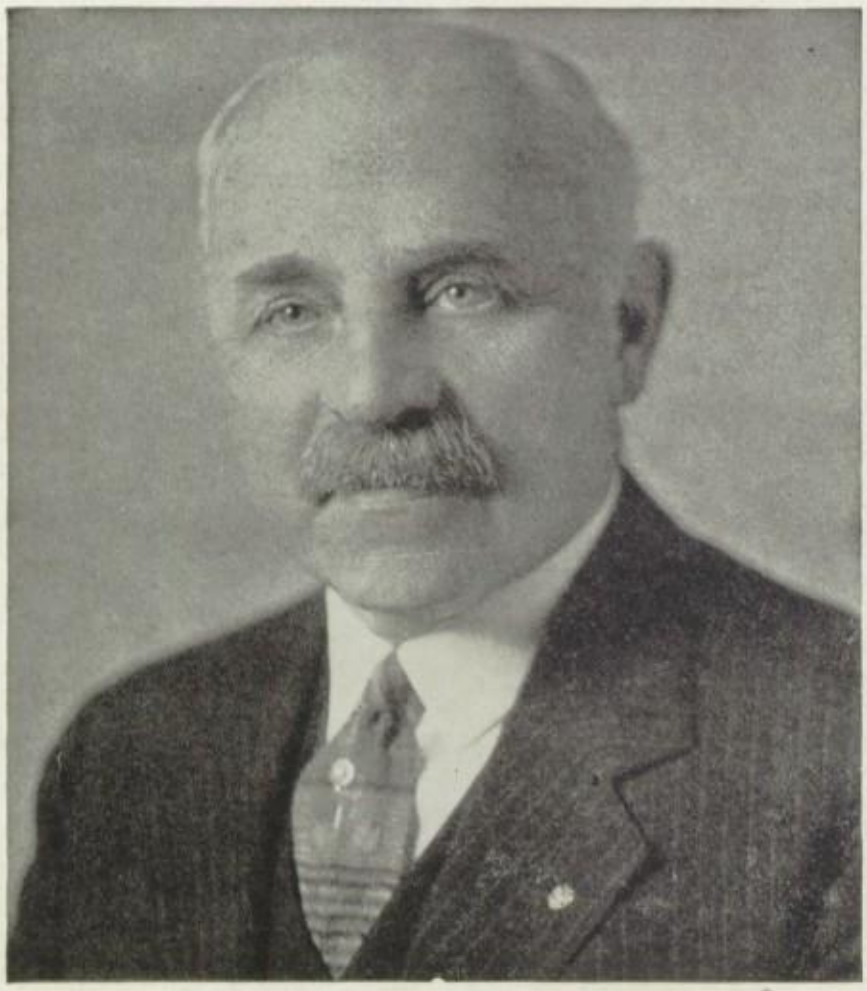
DR. CHARLES H. WILLIAMS



The years prove the worth of the loyalty of a friend. With unflagging zeal and interest, our patron, Dr. Charles H. Williams, has followed the progress of Libbey High School, especially in the field of athletics. The yearly trophies which he presents to the outstanding player in football and in basketball are much prized by the recipients. Dr. Williams also stimulates other ideals among the student body by the beautiful trophies which are awarded annually to the outstanding boy and the outstanding girl of the school. All Libbey unites in thanking Dr. Williams for his generosity.

HERMAN A. HARDING

Year after year the rivalry among the schools of Toledo for the title of champion in football becomes keener, and, accordingly, the work of the coach in maintaining the excellence of his team becomes increasingly more difficult. To Mr. Harding, football coach of Libbey, we pay hearty congratulations, for during the past season, he managed and directed a group of boys who tied with Central Catholic in winning the city championship. The work of Bus Harding is consistent and excellent and we know that under his training, Libbey will produce many more champions.

Athletics

Director of Activities

Behind each successful season of athletics stands a director, whose planning, arranging, and financing of a program of work, requires hours of painstaking effort and anxiety. In Libbey this work is done capably and efficiently by Charles R. Martin, who year after year helps to establish the reputation of Libbey athletically in our community. Aiding Mr. Martin the past year was Orville Henrion. The doctors who helped during the season were Dr. R. C. Young, Dr. F. B. Hawkins, and Dr. H. Carbin. Also indispensable to the training of Libbey's youth are Chuck Robinson, football, cross-country, and track coach; Al Jeffery, coach of basketball, baseball, and reserve football; Don Harris, coach of reserve football and reserve basketball; Phil Moses, who coaches freshman football and basketball; and Mr. Spackey, who directs tennis, golf, and bowling.

GLORIOUS PAST–PROMISING FUTURE

Because tradition and progress live together in Toledo, the 1950 graduating class of Libbey High School has reason to look backward with pride and forward with eagerness and hope.

As American cities go, Toledo has a truly significant history. Dating as it does from pioneer times, the city is full of landmarks which revive old memories and remind the present generation of a glorious past.

But there are many modern signs, too, in this bustling Ohio community and we feel we can say, with pardonable pride, that the Owens-Illinois Glass Company is one of them.

Owens-Illinois is equally proud of the fact that Toledo citizens continue to take an active part, as well as a personal interest in this enterprise, which has helped make Toledo the Glass Center of the World.

Many alumni of Libbey High School are included in our personnel and are doing much to help us solve our everyday problems.

P.S. I don't expect this to make up for all the dumb things I've done to make you dislike me. V.

Dear Dominic,

It doesn't seem possible that we're Seniors already. It seems like only yesterday that I was a freshman.

You and I have really had a lot of fun, last year and this. I enjoyed all of the dances we went to, and dates that we had - even more this year, I think, than last.

It takes a little while to get to know you, and even now I find out new things about you I never knew before. And each time I do it makes me like you all the more. I've never met a boy who had as many good qualities as you do. Looks, personality, brains, manners, and - what is most important - a sense of what's right and wrong. I guess I don't need to tell you how my parents feel about you -- they honestly think you're the nicest boy they've ever met. But maybe I do need to say how I feel -- since I don't seem to show it.

You know I told a lot about Duane, and I do think he's a nice guy and all - but he could never compare to you - no matter how many cars he has. You ought to know that that isn't what I'd look for in a boy. I hope you won't take this the wrong way -- my comparing you to him -- but you always seem to get the wrong idea about how I feel. I don't see how you could, the many times I've let you know how much I care about you.

So I don't know whether you care about my telling you all this or not, but no matter if you do or not, I honestly think you're the most wonderful guy I know, and please don't think this is too queer of a thing to write in a yearbook.

So long for now -- I hope I see you a lot this summer.

Love, Vera

Dear Dom,

Well here goes a great long letter I hope. As I am sitting here writing this to you, I think of the many joys (?) we have shared this year. We really have had some gay times, huh? Especially at "Bailey Burgers" - Drive-In, Pick-up, and Carry out. Lest I forget - you know the junior play wouldn't have been any thing without you as "Proctor." You really were terrif! You know what Dom, or is it Doc, (?) - Candy is dandy but liquor is quicker. I just had to get that in there somehow. You better watch that V. E. Hart and Doc Duane! Whatever it is the Duanes really have it I guess. Especially "Doc." That was fun doubling with you and V. E. on that Hi-y-teen roast. Let's do it again sometime, huh? Maybe Centennial this summer? Since this a love letter and I've not even gotten personal - The next few lines are mushy.

Dearest - how would I ever have gotten along without you ready to take over when V. E. Hart wasn't willing? I guess I really missed something not to have been given a break by you any time during the year at L. D. S. Maybe sometime in future I'll be lucky enough. No kidding though - here's wishing all the luck and success in the world to one of the nicest and sharpest guys I know.

Lots of love n' stuff - Rae Knopf "Σ.Χ." "Π" e.a.

Dear Yutch,

This has been some year. It seems as if it gets better every year. Neft

Well Dominic, it has been nice knowing this year. I hope the future holds only success and happiness for you.

Emma Williams
"51"

Dear D.B.

Well, haven't seen very much of you this year, but I hope to see more of you this summer. Maybe you and Vera can get together and we can double this summer. Next year should be our big year shouldn't it? I hope that we really have a lot of fun. I'm sure that we will though. You were in that Roman Wedding weren't you? I hope that Paulene will put on one of those clever shin-digs again next year. Even if we aren't an appreciative audience, at least it takes up some of the school time. Well, have a good time this summer, and maybe I'll be seeing you around.

Love,

Dear Dom:
I certainly wish you
I would edit a fiction any with you for
Will look of luck anyway
if you can't spell.

Will seniors next year.
Next year you had better take Baker so you can battle it out with him.
This summer we will have to play tennis more often
Lots of Luck
Lowell Tibet

I have lots of fun
this summer. Hope you are in my class
next year.
Lots of luck.

Hi Dominic
I kept training to open windows and never got a chance this year, but maybe next year will be different. lots of luck.

Dear Dominic
Its been fun having you in my classes. See you around in the summer.
(at church) Lots of luck.
many fun dreams

When are you going to learn to spell Jackie Dunlop 3rd hour

Dear Dom,

Mr. Boucher's growling, I'm afraid is going to distract me mightily but I'll make a valiant attempt. There's been plenty of things to remember (X) this year, hasn't there? The junior play of course is one of the biggest memories. I'll never forget that terrible laugh of yours. It still scares me.

Here's a pome.

Vera is really nice
But take my advice
Better watch Duane
For he is a pain
So if you fail
To get Vera, don't wail
Don't be blue
This you know too
I would always
Nancy Drew will be waiting for you.

Dear Mom,

It's really been swell having you for a friend and I hope next year we will be even better friends.

Best Wishes,
Larry Hayes

Dear Butch

I wasn't really mad but when you didn't even ask me to write in your book I wanted to tell you that I was glad you sat behind me in Ethel's room. But that's all over now and I won't have to put up with your grouchiness any more. I don't think we'll ever forget all the fun during rehearsals did we? Even before the play you were not too sure of your acting. Dee surely did have loads of trouble with Angela B. Dedanigan would'nt she? Remember when she got out of character, talk LOUDER! OR I'll let the end, you remember she was saying "Stand up straight, stay in character, talk LOUDER! OR I'll let the end, you remember she was supposed to say
